SHE BURNS HERSELF AND BABE.

A Curious Conspiracy Uncarthed to Dispose of An Obnoxious Daughterin-Law - The Usual Daily Criminal Grist.

A Mother Burns Herself and Babe. NEW YORK, Oct. 27,- [Special to the Burn.] -A borrible story of fire and loss of life comes from Hobart, Delaware county, this morning, which is best told in the words of Martha Jubee, a 12-year-old girl, who gave the following details to the coroner's jury: "The day before the fire," she said, "my mother and the baby and myself were up on a hill. Mother laid the baby on the ground and piled a lot of dry brush together. She took some matches out of her pocket and said she intended to burn herself and the baby on a brush pile, and that if I wanted to go said she intended to burn herself and the baby on a brush pile, and that if I wanted to go with them to heaven she would put on more brush and I could lie down and burn too. I snatched the matches out of mother's hand, and took the baby up in my arms, and would not let mother have him, and I coaxed ber to go home with me. On the morning of the fire I woke up, hearing the baby ery. The house was all smoke. I jumped out of best and called to mother. She did not answer me. I ran to her door and it was locked. I could hear her soothing baby and crying. I ran back to my room and waked my little brothers, and dressed myself quickly. I then went to get them out of the house as I knew it must be on fire. When I got them to the front door I found that a barrel of flour had been placed against it so that it could not be opened. I heard the fire crackling and was almost choked with against it so that it could not be opened. I heard the fire crackling and was almost choked with smoke. I do not know how I ever moved the heavy barrel of flour, but I got it away enough to open the door so we could get out. When I got my brothers out of doors I ran to a window in my mother's room and looked in. I could hear haby sereaming, the room was black with smoke, and mother was lying on the floor. She had firewood piled around her little bird's nest; it was blazing high and they were both dead. it was blazing high and they were both dead."

A Murder Conspiracy Confessed.

Curcago, Ill., Oct. 27.- Special to the BEE.1-The Tribune's Boston special says: An attractive young woman was arrested in this city Saturday evening, locked up in a private cell, and the next morning taken to a hotel and guarded by the police, who are reticent about the charge against her. It is said that on October 9 this woman called on the proprietor of a notorious gambling house in this city and said she wanted a young woman in Baltimore murdered, and offered to pay $1,000 to have the deed done. It is alleged that she told the keeper of the house that a young Irish girl had entered one of the nicest families of Baltimore as a servant. The son of her employer became enamored of the girl and secretly married her. A child was born. Then the secret was revealed. The parents stormed but it was no use. The son determined to stand by his wire. The narrator of this story said the parents, finding they could not control the son, determined to have the woman put out of the way, but on no conditions must the child be harmed. The woman said her mission to Boston was to see the person with whom she was talking and employ him either to kill this woman himself or get some one to do it. The man to whom the proposition was made first thought some one was trying to play a joke on him. some one was trying to play a joke on him, but determined apparently to consent to the woman's request. He said he would get some one to do the deed. The person suggested was "John Bull," a well known character, who once served a term in the state prison. An appointment was made with John and while he talked with the woman resolved to place the case in the hands of the police, which resulted in her arrest Saturday, while she was in the act of sending a dispatch to friends in Baltimore. When taken to the police headquarters she broke down and confessed all.

Murderous Moonshiners.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 27.-A dispatch from Tracy City, Grundy county, gives the details of a bloody encounter between a party of illicit distillers and citizens. W. F. Hobbs and Calvin Tipton were arrested for selling wildcat whisky in the woods near that town. There are no federal officers at the place, and the men were tried before a civil magistrate and acquitted. They at once drove the wagon and barrel of whisky a short distance from the town, and began selling again, and considerable druntenness and several fights resulted. Later in the night Jeff and Bill Smith and Dave Baker went to the camp and gave the "wild eatter" a severe beating. Early this morning Tipton and Hobbs bor-rowed shotgans with the avowed purpose of killing Baker and the others. They went to Baker's house and called him out, but before Tipton could shoot. Baker wrenched the from Hobbs, and wheeling, fired at Tipton. Both guns were discharged simultaneously, Both guns were discharged simultaneously, Tipton falling mortally wounded and Baker severely. Some of the participants were caught, but Hobbs escaped to his home at Northeut's Cave, where he swears he will kill any one who attempts to arrest him. He is known to be a desperate man.

An Indiana Judge Decides an Important Telephone Suit. EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 27.-A few days ago it was reported in the Associated press dispatches, that Judge Parrett, of the state circuit court here, had given several important opinions adverse to the local Bell telephone company, in a case wherein Vickery Brothers, merchants, sought to compel the telephone company to furnish them the use of two telephones upon the firm's complying with the usual terms and regulations. There has been a long-standing disagreement between the parties. The case has since been tween the parties. The case has since been under argument and advisement, and the court has given its decision in the premises. It is held that the telephone company is bound by statute to furnish telephone service to all applicants who comply with the terms and regulations, being a common carrier of news or intelligence as well as a public corporation. the patents and new inventions may be rightfully and sacredly protected, yet when volun-larily placed in channels of general com-merce, they must be so used as not to give partiality or discrimination in favor of against any persons or class of persons. his case, no previous quarrel or wrong would elieve either party. Under this decison the telephone, company Under this decision the telephone company will have to pay, unless relieved by the supreme court, $100 penalty for each refusal to furnish telephone service to the plaintiffs. The latter have nearly a dozen applications for two telephones, and upon this refusal have sued for penalties amounting to $300 in each case. Incidentally, although not strictly involved in the case, Judge Parrett gives his opinion that another state statute, limiting the charge for the use of telephones to $3 for a single telephone and of lelephones to $3 for a single telephone and $5 for two, is constitutional, and that the word telephone includes all the appliances necessary to communicate between different points, according to the usage of the system.

Serious Storm off Labrador.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 27.-A dispatch received to-day from St. Johns, N. F., says: A great storm raged off the coast of Labrador on the 11th inst., doing immense damage among the fishing fleet. Eighty vessels were wreeked or driven ashore, and at least seventy men, from the crews of the vessels, lost their lives. Two thousand persons are now ashore in a destitute condition. The news created excitement here. Steamers will be immediately dispatched to the scene of the disaster with provisions, clothing and other necessaries for the use of the castaways.

Boston, Oct. 27.—A dispaich received here in relation to the storm off Labrador coast says it raged from the 11th to the 15th inst. in ing which about twenty vessels and over a hundred lives were lost. No further details have been received owing to the lack of telegraph facilities. Efforts are being made, however, to obtain more complete information, but it is doubtful whether anything further can be learned to-night. ther can be learned to-night.

Closing Sunday Theatres.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27,-The law and order league, of this city, has begun an effort to compel theatres to cease giving performances on Sunday. They sent notices to this effect to the managers last week, but all of the theatres were open last Sunday. Yesterday they caused the arrest of four members of the two companies which gave performances on Sunday, and to-day these plead guilty. The justice of the peace, at the request of the president of the league, assessed them the lowest penalty—85 and costs in each case. Some of the managers say they will be glad to close on Sunday if the law is uniformly enforced. enforced.

A Self-Confessed Burglar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27,-A man, looking tired and lungry, accosted a police officer to-day, and said he wanted to give himself into custody. He said there was a reward offered for his arrest for burglary committed in the store of Cumberledge & Smith, at Athol. Dakota, which he robbed of $1,000. He said that he had spent the money, and was willing to go back and take his dose. He gave his name as Herrick H. Bridges. He was locked up until the Dakota authorities are communicated with.

Officeseekers-Now or Never. Washington, Oct. 27,-The following was to-day promulgated by the president for the information of the public: EXECUTIVE MANSION, Oct. 27, 1885.—For nearly eight months a large share of the time of the president has been devoted to the hearing of applications for office and determination of appointments. Much of the time t us spent has undoubtedly subserved the public good, some of it has been sacrificed to the indulgence of the people in their national insistence upon useless interviews, and some of it has been unjustifiably wasted. and some of it has been unjustifiably wasted. Public welfare and due regard for the claims of those whose interests in the government are entirely disconnected with office holding, imperatively demand that in the future the time of the president should be differently occupied, and he confidently expects that all occupied, and he confidently expects that all good citizens will acquiesce in the propriety and reasonableness of the following plan adopted to that end:

After the first day of November the president will decline to grant interviews to those seeking public positions or their advocates. On Monelays, Wednesdays and Fridays during that month from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning he will receive such persons as call on strictly public business, and on the same days at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon he will meet those who merely desire to pay their remeet those who merely desire to pay their respects. On all other days and times during that month he will receive only cabinet officers and heads of departments.

Revival of an Old Canal Project. Washington, Oct. 27.—[Special to the Ber.]—A new canal project has come to the urface here which will interest all concerned in the Hennepin canal and Mississippi river improvement, because it seems likely to be ased as "trading material" when the matter pertaining to those interests comes up in congress. It is a revival of the project for the construction of a ship canal from Baltimore to Delaware bay, and seems this time to have such backing as to almost assure its success, Large sums, it is asserted, have been sub-scribed by New York, Philadelphia and Balinnore capitalists, and commissioners appointed to appraise and condemn the land, and congress will be asked to guarantee the interest on $4,000,000 bonds for its aid. This plan will pu! New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore interests in a mood to make working connections with the Mississippi valley people when the question of appropriations comes up next winter.

No Changes Contemplated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27,-The Star to-night says: It is understood that Secretary Bayard does not contemplate making any changes in the consular service in countries south of the United States for some time. It is the policy of the state department to cultivate friendly relations with Mexico and the south and Central American people, and extend our commercial intercourse in that direction. For this reason consuls who have already secured the good opinion of the people with whom they have to deal, it is thought, ure of office law than to the wish to maintain the high standing of the service.

Questions Before the Cabinet. WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 .- The cabinet meeting to-day was attended by all the members except the postmaster general, who is out of the city. The session was devoted principally to the consideration of questions arispally to the consideration of questions arising under the establishment of a boundary line between the United States and Mexico, and resulted in a series of instructions to officers engaged in this service on behalf of the government. The question of allowing the publication by the press of the annual reports of bureau officers in advance of their being submitted to congress, was also consid-ered, and it was decided to leave the matter entirely to the discretion of the heads of the

CONKLING'S INTERVIEWER. Indoubted Proof That He Voiced the

Sentiments of Roscoe.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—[Special to the Ber.]

-The Mail and Express says: Amos F.
Learned, who wrote the interview with Conkling, says the ex-senator did utter every word attributed to him. Learned says Conkling has not yet dealed the authorship of the sentiment of the interview and there was no njunction to secrecy, Conkling told Learned to use his own judgment, when Mr Learned spoke to him with reference to the publication of the matter.

The Sun editorially says: "We published Sunday an interview with Hon. Roscoe Conkling giving expression to sentiments which Conkling undoubtedly entertains and clothed in phraseology not identical, perhaps, with that habitual to him, but nevertheless near enough thereto to leave little room for doubt as to the source from which it was derived. The interview was brought us by Mr. Amos F. Learned, a well-known journalist, formerly agent in this town of the New York ssociated press, and the New England asso-iated press, a republican all his life and a calous friend and admirer of Conkling who, as we know, has enjoyed opportunities of in-timacy with him. Learned was one of the famous 506 who gained of the famous 300 who gained so much distinction in the republican national convention in Chicago in 1880. He still wears the medal which commemorates that historic struggle. As he vouched for the truth and accuracy of his conversation with Conkling, we entertained no suspicion upon the subject and published the interview as conspicuously as its contents deserved. This interview does not contain a single sentiment in regard to the republican candidates or republican platform which Conkling now discialins. What he says of it is that the publication was unauthorized, not that the drift of it is untrue or unjust. Of course, if Conkcation was unauthorized, not that the drift of it is untrue or unjust. Of course, if Conk-ling had sought to deny the accuracy of the opinions attributed to him respecting the re-publican candidates and the republican plat-form, he would not have failed to say so. The interence is plain. He despises the plat-form, and would be glad to see the candidates beaten."

A Meeting to Form a Pool to Maintain the Price of Budge. CHICAGO, Oct. 27 .- About sixty representatives of the whisky manufacturing interest of the country met here to-day for the purpose of organizing the old pool or forming a new one. The first business transacted was the appointment of a committee of cleven to prepare a pooling plan. The committee reported shortly, and the remainder of the day and all of the evening up to adjournment was devoted to the discussion of the plans abmitted, no agreement being reached. The plan presented by the committee is to restrict the preduction of the mills in the association to one-third of their capacity, and if that does not advance the price of the product the asso-ciation is to export its goods even though it has to be done at a loss. In case a ember shuts down entirely, the association to allow him the legal rate of interest on the capital thus thrown out of employment.

The advance desired in prices is from $1.01 to $1.10 for high wines and from $1.95 to $2.10. for alcohol. A majority of the members present were willing to adopt the plan pro-posed, and would have done so but for the objections of three dealers who had amendments to offer. The session is to be resumed o-morrow morning.

WORKING AWAY AT WARD.

Progress of the Trial of the Crooked Pinancie:

DAMAGING EVIDENCE ADDUCED.

Fish Recalled to the Stand-His Recital of a Dramatic Interview Had With Ward after the Failure.

The Ward Trial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 .- The county court ouse was crowded this morning with people anxious to gain admittance to the court room of oyer and terminer, where Ferdinand Ward is on trial. Benjamin Fish, paying teller, was recalled to the stand and Ward. listened attentively as he read off the amount. made by himself and the firm of Grant & Ward. Some of the deposits ranged in the region of the hundreds of thousands. Gen. Tracy demanded that certain books be produced, and they not being at hand he asked for time to examine them. "I don't propose to delay this case," was the answer of the judge, "and you will have to get the books the best way you can." Paying Teller Fish testihed that on April 20, 1884, Grant & Ward had a balance of $40,000, and on the morning of May 2 the balance was $501,700. On May 2 Ward was raising money for the bank and he managed the deposits. By consent of counsel, the sheets from which these state-ments were given by witness were admitted he managed the deposits. By consent of counsel, the sheets from which these statements were given by witness were admitted as evidence, thereby excluding testamentary evidence in regard to over-drawn drafts. Grant & Ward had two accounts—one special and the other general. Ward, best es, had an individual account and drew against the three. The sheets of these accounts were also admitted as evidence. Ward had spoken to the witness about the purpose of the special account, but the testimony on this point was ruled out and the witness was excused.

Samuel D. Cornell, book keeper of the First National bank, then testimed. His testimony was the same in general character as that of Paying Teller Fish.

Ex-president Fish was then recalled, and his cross-examination resumed by Gen. Tracy. "I do not know," he said, "how many letters I received from Ward on May 5. It is not true that my bank was in financial difficulty since January, 1882, and that Ward kept helping to save it. We pressed Ward to return to us the money which he and his tirm borrowed," Ward then handed Gen. Tracy a number of letters to examine the witness upon. Fish was examined at Jeneth number of letters to examine the witness upon. Fish was examined at length upon the meaning of these letters and also upon the testimony given by blin upon his own trial in the United States court. Fish continued: "On May 5 I had no doubt but that we could have extracted and the country of the continued of the country o May 5.1 had no doubt but that we could have gotten relief from the other banks had the government contracts been true as I believed them to be. A refusal to certify Grant & Ward's checks would have caused rumors which would have broken them up, and then our bank would be forced down. I am now staying at the Murray Hill hotel, and I believe the district attorney resides there also. We have had frequent talks together, but not much about this case."

A recess for thirty minutes was then taken.

A recess for thirty minutes was then taken.

Ex-President Fish testified: Ward came to see me at my rooms over the bank three or to see me at my rooms over the bank three or four days after the failure and said he could not help it. He said I had been his best friend. I told him that by his deception and treachery he had ruined me, ruined my family, ruined the bank and had destroyed the reputation I had for twenty-live years been building. In my indignation I raised a chair; he crottched on the floor, crying, "Don't hit me." I told him if he were not such a contemptible, hyperritical sneak I could kill him. He crottched on the floor like a whipped cur. I told him he had better commit suicide. him he had better commit suicide, hang himself, drown himself, poison himself, shoot himself, or do it in any way so the world would be rid of him. Ward smiled sarcastically as Fish described the scene. The examination of Fish then closed.

STIRRED UP BY SCANDAL. Sensational Disclosures Following the

Pfling of Papers for Divorce. CLEVELAND, Oct. 27 .- High society in this city received a severe-shock yesterday by the publication of a sensational bit of history. Mrs. Martha L. Carev keeps a respectable boarding house In Courtland street and is engaged to be married to Captain Lacey, a wealthy fire brick manufacturer, who s conwealthy fire brick manufacturer, who is connected with some of the wealthiest families in Cleveland. The two were introduced about two months ago and immediately became engaged. Mrs. Carey thereupon commenced a suit for divorce from her husband, Francis S. Carey, who is connected with a wealthy southern family in New Orleans, and who served with distinction in the confederate army, claiming the thought him dead, the divorce proceedings being a mere formality. Lacey's family had in the meantime sent a detective to Chicago, where the Careys had formerly lived, to inwhere the Careys had formerly lived, to investigate. Carey was finally found in Joliet, Ill., where he had become a prominent and respected citizen. He was brought to Cleveland, and said that he met Mrs. Carey, who claimed she was the wife of Mr. Mowry, a very wealthy citizen of Pittsburg, shortly afvery wealthy citizen of Pittsburg, shortly after the war. She claimed that she had lived with him (Carey) as his mistress for some time, until she procured his release from jail, where he had been confined for stabbing a man in the Sherman House, Chicago, on his agreeing to marry her. They then came to Cleveland,

Slow Progress Towards Settlement of the Bulgarian Question.

Sr. Petenspura, Oct. 25.-The Novoe Veremya publishes an interview which its correspondent at Phillippepolis had with M. Karaoloff, Bulgarian promier. Karaoloff de nied that Belgarla had any agreement with England or Austria before the Roumellan rewillion respecting the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia, and that they acted on their own responsibility in bringing about the union. If there was any instigation in the matter. said the Balgarian minister, "it was Russia, whose consul general at Phillippopolis first agitated the union and hoped to start a paper at Phillippopolis devoted to the cause of the union with Balgarian money. When I entered the ministry, believing the game dangerous, I stopped the subsidy of the Balgarian government to the newspaper, and also forbade the meeting of unionists in Bulgarian."

forbade the meeting of unionists in Bulgaria."

The premier reaffirmed the statement that Prince Alexander had notified Russia of the intention of Roomelia to unite with Bulgaria, and that Roomelia was willing to continue Turkish suzerainty, but would not cede an inch of territory. In conclusion the premier said: "If Turkey declares war we alone are able to raise Macedonia in three days. A European war is none of our business, and we are not alarmed at the armaments of Greece, as her army is far from being terrible." London, Oct. 27.—A disputch from St. Pe-

Servia Ready for War.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.- | Special to the BEE. 'The Herald's cable from London says: "I tave just learned by wire from Nissa that but for the change in the political situation creited by the demand of the porte for a conference, there can be no doubt that Servian troops would have passed the Bulgarian frontier yesterday. Preparations and every other symptom were unequivocal that the popuation was in a state of high delight and everything was in readiness. The plan of the campaign has been settled and action would have commenced at two points, as was cabled yesterday from Pirol." The London Times this morning says: "It was a revolu-tion really planned and organized by the Russian consular agent, and there was a notice of it sent beforehand to the Russian government. These are questions which ought to be answered before Russia can come forward with clear hands as a guardian and vindicator of the treaty of Berlin."

A Decided Drop in Hogs-Wheat Holds W Steady Market, At an Advance Over Yesterday-The Visible &

Potent Factor in Prices. Chicago Live Stock Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 .- Special to the BEE.]-CATTLE-The market is slowly recoveringnatives especially-from the bad break of last week, the loss on natives ranging all the way from 40e to 70e per 100. The only cause of a better feeling is the extremely light offerings of natives. Out of 14,000 cattle in this market the past two days there was searcely 1,000 natives of all sorts, and not over 2,000 that were suitable for the dressed beef and shipping trade. To day there was scarcely half a dozen loads of good natives among the arrivals and none that were prime or firstclass. Low grade natives, including common steers, bulls and cows, were in fair supply and were selling nearly as low as at any time last week. At least three-quarters of the stock on sale were. Texas rangers, and they were rather slow and not a nickel higher than during the panic of Thursday and Friday last. Stocker and feeder trade was rather quiet; prices are extremely low, especially on light little things, of which there are more on the market this week than there are more on the market this week than last; shipping steers, 1,370 to 1,500 lbs., $5,00 (9.5,50; 1,200 to 1,350 lbs., $4,0,005,25; 950 to 1,200 lbs., $3,400,4.25. Texans, 1,300 lbs., $3,35.
Hoos—The market opened with a drop of 56010c, and at this decline there was a fair business, but as the foremoon passed it was plain that the estimated receipts of the morning would be largely below the actual count, and that instead of 35,000 there would be at and that histerat of 45,000 there would be at least 40,000, and there was another drop, so that prices at moon were fully 15c lower than at the opening. The market closed with 17,000 unsold. Packing and shipping, 250 to 330 lbs, $3.45\alpha 3,60. Light weights, 150 to 170 lbs, $3.40\alpha 3,75; 180 to 210 lbs, $3.25\alpha 3,40. Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 .- [Special to the BEF.]-WID AT .- "The bear elique," exclaimed a heavy speculator in wheat to-day, "has been bursted ever since Woerishoffer left it. There appears to be no one in it capable of holding wheat up. To-day they gave us a doctored visible statement which forced in a few small shorts, but even that did not hold." The mestion as to whether or not the visible is doctored is debatable. Owing to the system of computing it there is 1,500,000 bushels known to be affoat at Buffalo and Erie, recently withdrawn from the western elevators, which could not figure in the official statement because it had not yet been stored in elevators. The system of figuring, rather than any clique, should be blamed for such deficiencies as enter into the statement. At the opening December stood %c over yesterday's closing, first sales being at 881/c This proved later to be within 36c of the top for the day. Considerable strength came from a small increase in the visible, the market opening so much higher that a great many small shorts were forced to cover. Big houses, however, gave them all the wheat they wanted, and their actions tended to check any advance, though it cannot be said there was any decided tendency to do this. From 88%c for December there was a reaction, more or less steady, to there was a reaction, more or less steady, to 874c, which figures represent the extreme range of the day. The trade in wheat was active. There are still bulls and bears in the pit, but they are doing nothing especially noteworthy. From 87% December made a gradual recovery to 88% c, closing about steady at the advance noted over yesterday.

Cons And Oars-Corn and oafs were again very slow and void of feature, about the same strength being shown in all futures. the same strength being shown in an induce.

Provisions—Provisions were generally easier and subject to a very moderate trade, there being only a slight showing of orders
on the floor and packers not disposed to force sales at present prices.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, langui', and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties llingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases, "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years, I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Bruch Electric Light Co., New York City.
